

Relief carvings are very much like a carved painting. They appear three dimensional but are not that thick and can be hung on a wall. We use the computer precision of the CNC router to give us perfect layout and proportion and finish the carvings with chisels and sanders to add texture and shape. Entire wall relief carvings (similar to a mural) can tell a story and add an incredible attraction to any building and/or community. In a house they are a major focal point and create a captivating visual experience.
